

CARRIER MILLS RECEIVED A BRAND NEW FIRE TRUCK
Thursday afternoon and it was put through a series of tests at the water plant near the Carrier Mills reservoir. The new truck was purchased from the Tower Fire Apparatus company, Freeburg, with the pumper mounted on a Chevrolet chassis. The completely equipped truck includes 1,200 feet of hose, with three hose connections and can build up 400 pounds of water pressure. The truck, fully equipped, cost $12,000, and will be paid for by money received from the one-half cent sales tax collected in Carrier Mills. Mayor Freeman O'Keefe has announced. The village now has two good pieces of fire fighting equipment as the 1945 fire truck has been retained.

The old 1926 truck was traded in on the new fire fighter. Standing by the truck are city officials and firemen, left to right, Lavern Fields, Charles Rayfield, Mayor Freeman O'Keefe, Charles Betzner of the Tower Fire Apparatus company who delivered the truck to Carrier Mills, Bob Fields, Ron Arnold, Clyde Dunn, Vic Bailey, Parrish Miller, Village Trustee and Chairman of the Fire, Water and Public Property committee and J. B. Fitts. Inset, holding the hose while the pumper was working under full 400 pounds of pressure and pouring a large stream of water over the bank and into the reservoir, are Carl Edward Murphy and Harold Fitts. About Town

And Country

By TIMOTHEUS T.

O. L. TUCKER of 601 North Main street brought in a copy of the Southern Illinoisan, published at Shawneetown, Gallatin Co., Illinois, Friday morning, Dec. 3, 1952.

Mr. Tucker found it in his late father's belongings a short time ago. He had had the paper in his possession about 20 years but didn't know it.

I started looking over the paper for Gallatin county news, but had a hard time finding any. In fact the first page carried a long poem called Death of the Year, copied out of the Southern Ladies Book, clippings from Daniel Webster, the Texas State Gazette, and other clipped items, and a long short story titled The Brothers, which told about Timothy, the fair-haired lad, who wasn't I because of my shortness in the commodity.

But there were a number of advertisements which we can take up. They must not have had Feenamint or Ex-Lax back in those days because there was a big demand for castor beans. One Shawneetown fellow, W. P. James, said he wanted 10,000 bushels of beans (castor) and would pay the highest market price, in cash. J. E. Rearden also said he would pay the highest market price, in cash, but didn't say how many he wanted.

Back in those days they had a number of lawyers in the county, and they included L. T. Posey, Samuel D. Marshall, Milton Bartley, John Olney, W. T. Crenshaw, N. L. Freeman and Henry Hays, all of Shawneetown, and S. K. Gibson of Equality.

Merchants in Shawneetown a century ago were the Rearden Brothers, who operated at Marshall's Corner; E. H. Hinkle, who sold fancy goods, hardware, groceries and furniture; W. A. Dock-er, who sold dry goods, cutlery, hardware, queensware, tinware and groceries; Kirkham and Lassater, who sold all kinds of dry goods; George Beck's groceries; Alex. Freehar's clothing store; and Alfred Richeson's cash store, featuring dry goods, groceries, queensware, boots and shoes, and hardware and cutlery.

Sheriff Barrett Urges Parents To Help Curb Reckless Driving

Sheriff William T. Barrett today appealed to parents for their assistance in efforts to stop drag racing, speeding and reckless driving in Saline county.

Barrett pointed to the great possibility of people getting killed—both participants and innocent motorists—as a result of these practices, and emphasized that charges of reckless homicide can be filed against persons responsible for these deaths.

"The sheriff's office," Barrett said, "has had many reports in the last few weeks of drag races, speeding in speed zones, and reckless driving, and investigations show that most of these violations are by teen-agers."

Points to Consequences
"In Galatia," he continued, "these motorists are keeping people awake by fast driving, throwing gravel by fast starts, and weaving automobiles from side to side. Many of these things happen late at night, or in the early hours of the day."

House Group Cuts Foreign Aid To $3.4 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee today slashed President Eisenhower's foreign aid program to nearly $3.4 billion.

The figure was a new low in the battered $4,900,000,000 program's progress through Congress. It also was well below the minimum security level set by the President.

The House passed foreign aid bill authorizes $3,809,000,000 for fiscal 1957. The Senate-passed bill authorizes $4,500,000,000.

A conference committee sought today to reach agreement on a compromise version possibly by Saturday.

The Appropriations Committee, which approves the money to carry out the authorized program, voted to cut a total of $325,000,000 more than the House. The committee cut $265,000,000 more in military aid and $60,000,000 in economic aid.

The President originally asked for $4,900,000,000 in military and economic aid for the fiscal year which began last Sunday. In the face of the economy drive in Congress, however, he agreed to go along with a $500,000,000 cut. A greater reduction, he said, would threaten the nation's security.

Nevertheless, the House slashed the military aid authorization by $1,000,000,000 and the Appropriations Committee now has recommended that the actual appropriation be cut by $1,200,000,000.

the morning. We know that the parents of these teen-agers are not aware of these things, and the young people themselves are not aware of the trouble, plus the danger these 'things' cause."

Pointing to the consequences, Barrett said:

"If you should be driving in a reckless manner and cause a wreck which killed someone, you could be charged with reckless homicide. This charge carries a penalty of up to five years in the state prison. Reckless driving carries a penalty of up to a $500 fine, or 90 days in the county jail, or both."

Barrett said "we would like for the parents of young people who drive to talk to their children and tell them about the responsibilities connected with driving. Parents should know where their children are at night, and if they are responsible for the violations mentioned."

"The sheriff's department does not want to make things hard on these young people. We want them to have a good time. Yet there is a right way and a wrong way, and if they pick the wrong way, they may be responsible for an accident that kills or maims. Being sorry after an accident does not help."

He said the sheriff's force, state and city police are watching for the violators, adding that the officers intend to make arrests, if violations continue, before someone is killed or seriously injured.

"The co-operation of all the people in the county is needed," he said. "This includes the teen-ager and all other citizens who are careless in their driving. Talk today to your young people who drive. Let's make our county a safer place in which to live, and enjoy the use of our automobiles."

Rainfall

The Galatia area got a good rain yesterday. Harrison Kibler reported the gauge at Galatia measured 1.17 inches of precipitation while the rainfall here yesterday morning was .42 inch.

Palace Workers Keep Cool in Shorts

Palace personnel today had air-conditioned themselves.

The four men employees of the Palace Clothing House today showed up for work in shorts, as had been agreed upon by the quartet, and although they were the objects of some comment by their friends, they were keeping cool.

Wearing shorts today were Eddie Towle, store operator, Ralph English, James Gasaway and John Stump.

There was no information on whether the men planned to continue wearing the shorts.

National Debt $272.7 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The national debt stood at $272,750,813,649 at the end of fiscal 1956 last Saturday midnight, the Treasury reported. This was a $1,600,000,000 cut from the previous year.

The government surplus for the fiscal year, first in five years, was estimated at about $2,000,000,000. It will be at least two weeks, however, before the exact spending and revenue figures are known.

The debt at the end of fiscal 1956 was nearly $2,300,000,000 below its legal ceiling of $275,000,000,000. It will rise during the summer and fall, however, as tax collections hit yearly lows and spending continues normally.

Annual Saline County Fair July 29-Aug. 3

Program Will Be Given Six Nights, Two Afternoons

The 50th annual Saline County Agricultural Fair will be held from Sunday, July 29, through August 3. There will be programs on six nights and two afternoons, and a look at the program shows that the fair association has chosen a variety of programs of fine events.

Joie Chitwood's automobile and motorcycle thrill show will be held Sunday afternoon and night, July 29.

Monday morning and afternoon will be devoted to entries but Monday evening there will be a "Grand Ole Opry" presentation direct from WSM, Nashville, Tenn., starring Lonz and Oscar with Judy Lynn, Wilburn Brothers, Radio Dot and Smokey, Pat Kelly and others.

Livestock will be judged Tuesday and it will be Kids Day, with free admission to the grounds and carnival rides for a dime until 5 p. m.

Tuesday evening's features will be Steele's Frontier Days and the western horse show. The Frontier Days show will have 25 western and circus acts with chuck wagon and Roman chariot races. The western horse show will follow.

Steele's show will appear again Wednesday night, to be followed by the society horse show.

Border collie sheep dog trials will be held Thursday afternoon and that evening will be the annual Saline County Beauty Contest and Automobile Show.

The big week will end Friday night with automobile races.

Eisenhower Discusses Intentions With Staff

House Rejects School Building Bill, 224 to 194

Measure Would Have Provided $1.6 Billion To Aid Construction

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he will keep prodding Congress to pass a school aid bill before it adjourns for the year.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen the President will make his feelings known through talks with congressional leaders "or through word relayed through our legislative representatives."

The House Thursday defeated a $1,600,000,000 school construction bill by a vote of 224-194. Democrats and Republicans blamed each other for the measure's fate.

Shortly before the showdown vote, the House formally approved, 225-192, a redrafted version of an amendment by Rep. Adam C. Powell Jr., Negro Democrat from Harlem, to bar school building funds to states that fail to comply with the Supreme Court's 1954 anti-segregation decision.

The bill in the form in which it was finally defeated would have provided $400,000,000 annually for four years to assist states in school construction. The money would have been divided on a basis of school age population — amounting to $11.30 per pupil per year — to be matched 50-50 by state money.

The House rejected 261-156, the administration - favored formula which would have divided the money partly on a basis of state "need." This plan would have worked to the advantage of the poorer states.

Republicans and Democrats lost no time in exchanging blame for the bill's defeat.

Southerners, who had opposed the measure overwhelmingly from the start, were openly gleeful over the outcome.

A breakdown of the final vote showed that 119 Republicans and 105 Democrats voted against the bill while 119 Democrats and 75 Republicans supported it.

PARTY LINE SPLIT BY ILLINOIS CONGRESSMEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Illinois congressmen split along party lines Thursday on the rollcall on which the House killed the school construction bill.

All 12 Illinois Democrats in the House voted for the bill. Eleven of the 12 Illinois GOP members voted against it.

The other Republican, Rep. Timothy P. Sheehan of Chicago, cast his ballot in favor of the bill.

Illinois normally has 25 congressmen, but there is one vacancy in the state's delegation now due to the death of Republican Rep. Chauncey W. Reed, West Chicago.

Mrs. Stinson, a long-time resident of Eldorado, is the widow of the late W. E. Stinson. Her family includes five sons, Eddie of Harrisburg, and Oscar, Leslie, Murray and Mrs. Fannie Murphy, also of Eldorado. There are nineteen grandchildren and 28 great-grandchildren. Mrs. John R. Small of Harrisburg is a granddaughter of Mrs. Stinson.

History of Eddyville Reported At Historical Society Meeting

The Saline County Historical society met at the Eddyville school house July 3, at 6:30 p. m., with a potluck supper with Louis Aaron of Eldorado presiding.

There were 71 present. A talk was given by Mr. Aaron and songs were rendered by the Eddyville Trio, composed of Mrs. Lola King, Mrs. Eula Barger and Mrs. Reva Barger, and solos by Miss Dorris Cravens and Miss Carolyn Jackson.

Pictures were shown of scenic sites of Pope county by William Farley.

A history of Eddyville and description of scenic spots is given as follows by Mrs. Ulah Barger:

Indian Kitchen, which is located about 2 1/2 miles east of Eddyville and according to tradition the Indians used this as a place to build a rock wall across the top of bluff. Where the wall makes a horseshoe bend the rocks are 75 to 150 feet straight up and the Indians would run their game in the corral to catch them. There is a path leading to the kitchen 100 feet above the creek.

Then there are places where three water grist mills have been located on Lusk creek. One is above the kitchen, where there are burrs and timber remaining.

Bell Smith Springs, located about four miles west of Eddyville, is one of the widely known places. This place received its name from a woman by the name of Bell Smith. Many people hauled water from this place and there are a natural bridge and caves, and an old swimming hole. Steps lead down the bluff on the east side. Haze Canyon, Burden Falls

The other place, called Double Barrel Hole, where two branches empty off the bluff in the same hole of water. This is a very scenic place.

Burden Falls, named after Wm. Burden, is located about six miles northwest of Eddyville. The Bur-

Businessmen's Industrial Committee Urges Appreciation for Industry Already Here

At a meeting of the Harrisburg Businessmen's association, held Tuesday at the Rt. 45 Drive-In Cafe, the monthly report of the Industrial committee was given by the chairman, Bob Davenport.

He stated the delay in legal action is handicapping any definite negotiations on the partially completed factory building in the south part of town. Several encouraging contacts have been made but nothing definite can be done until further court action is completed.

The industrial committee stressed the need for appreciation of industry already here. This part of the report was devoted to the Harrisburg Manufacturing company and to its great value to the community.

It was pointed out the plant, which makes hats and caps and is located in the Cummins building, is at present employing 140 persons with an annual payroll exceeding $250,000. Richard Ford, plant manager, was optimistic concerning the production requirements of the company.

Each month the Industrial committee will report on other local firms and what these firms add to the economy of the area.

R. C. Davenport, cashier of the Harrisburg National bank, explained the Saline County Bankers' association and told of its functions. He said banks of the county are co-operating in an attempt to give better service and to take a more active part in community endeavors. One of the first steps to bring Saline county to the attention of other parts of the state and surrounding area is the adoption of the slogan, "Gateway to the Shawnee National Forest," which will be printed on all checks by the banks of the county.

Mr. Davenport asked the businessmen present to request this slogan on their business checks.

Cy Hasting of the Small Business Institute of Southern Illinois University discussed a proposed Sales and Management class to be held in Harrisburg next fall for local businessmen and key personnel.

The Businessmen's group agreed to sponsor the class in the fall and applications for the class will be sent to all members within the next two weeks. Members were urged to make application early as the class will be limited to the first 25 to register.

An additional series of sales meetings will be held once a month for five months for employees, to teach them proper sales techniques. This course will be paid for by the merchants participating.

Hagerty Refuses Statement on Big Question

Says President 'Might' Hold News Conference at Farm

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower discussed his second term intentions with his staff today for the first time since his illness.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty announced that Mr. Eisenhower discussed both "personal and general politics" in a conference this morning with Hagerty and Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams.

But there was no immediate statement on the big question: Does the President still intend to run for another term in the White House?

Hagerty told newsmen that he talked with the chief executive at the farm. Adams conferred with the President by telephone.

Hagerty flatly refused to give any details of the political conversations. He said he "wouldn't know" whether a further statement of the President's second term intentions is required.

"All I'm trying to do is to keep you informed of the conversation I have had with the President," Hagerty said with a face-splitting grin.

"When might we expect an announcement of these political discussions?" a reporter asked.

"I wouldn't know," Hagerty said. "Hagerty said it 'might be' that Mr. Eisenhower would have a news conference before he leaves Gettysburg."

Confers With Twining
Hagerty surprised newsmen by volunteering the information that he had talked politics with the President at the farm this morning. Asked to "elaborate" he said, "I'm not going to."

Hagerty said he expects the President to return to the White House in Washington "for a few days" before he goes to Panama July 20.

Mr. Eisenhower conferred for 80 minutes Thursday with Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff who has just returned from a trip to Russia, to hear Twining's report on Russian airpower. This meeting, attended by other top defense and White House officials, was followed by 15 more minutes on White House business.

The President could understandably be cheered by two aspects of Twining's report:

1. The top American air general told his commander-in-chief that the United States is still "out in front" of Russian air power.

2. He brought back with him from Moscow warm words of interest in the President's health from Soviet Communist party chieftain Nikita Khrushchev and Marshal Georgi Zhukov, chief of Soviet defense forces and an old World War II friend of Mr. Eisenhower's.

Sobell Has Had Justice

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

It is not easy to understand why certain Europeans feel constrained from time to time to come to the defense of convicted U. S. Communist spies.

A considerable furor arose in France and elsewhere on the eve of the execution in 1953 of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, who had been sentenced to death for conspiring to transmit atomic secrets to Russia.

More recently, Jean Paul Sartre,
French writer, and Bertrand Russell, famed British philosopher, took it upon themselves to declare belief in the "innocence" of Morton Sobell, a co-defendant of the Rosenbergs who now is serving a 30-year sentence in Alcatraz.

Federal Judge Irving Kaufman,
in disposing of Sobell's latest bid for a new trial, has in wise and temperate language replied to these criticisms of the American judicial process. Said he:

"Freedom of speech should and does permit untrammeled discussion and differences of opinion, but judicial impartiality requires that the courts be free from extraneous and conflicting pressures.

"Therefore, the American judicial system has evolved its own safeguards and procedures for arriving at the truth — procedures which have withstood the test of centuries. These procedures and safeguards have been the sole guideposts for this court."

Kaufman noted that Sobell's case has in one form or another come before the U. S. Court of Appeals six times and the Supreme Court six times. In every instance his conviction remained undisturbed.

Is it possible that Russell and Sartre, viewing the matter from across 3,000 miles of ocean, can discern vital details not evident to the judges who have passed on Sobell's case again and again?
The prospect would seem most unlikely.

This time Sobell made a plea
which did not even raise the question of his guilt or innocence. He simply alleged that he had been
"abducted" in Mexico by secret
police and handed over to the American FBI, and that thus the U. S. court had no jurisdiction in the case.

Kaufman declared that this argument had no merit, that the law states it does not matter how the defendant was apprehended. Testimony at the original trial showed Sobell actually was preparing to flee from Mexico to Europe. This hardly accords with the behavior of an innocent man.

At their worst, the criticisms of the U. S. judicial process in this case are plainly the work of Communists bent on tarring everything American. At best, they represent a misguided emotionalism which serves poorly the cause of freedom, even in its neutralist aspect.

For such ill-informed judgments
as have been offered by people like Russell and Sartre in the Sobell case can only discredit those who offer them.

Sobell has in fact abused American justice by his constant recourse to the courts, often as not on evidently trumped-up arguments. We have let him do this to give him all benefit of doubt.
His guilt is not shadowed by the faintest uncertainty. All doubt today surrounds the motives of those who defend him with emotion but no reason.

"It's No Use—He Won't Confess"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: U.
S. A. Faces Great Opportunities To Win Over Bewildered Communism Faces Its Greatest Crossroads; Communist Masses Lost Confidence In Their Leaders.

WASHINGTON. — It doesn't take either a shrewd diplomat or a Washington columnist to report that some of the most important events in 40 years of Soviet history are happening in the Communist world today. World Communism is at a crossroads.

But it does take even more than a shrewd diplomat or a Washington columnist to report just what this Communist ferment means and what should be done about it.

To try to diagnose the Communist seething, let's take a closer look at it. Here are some of the amazing developments — developments presenting the United States with golden opportunities which some diplomats never dreamed would happen in this generation:

In Italy — Pietro Nenni, the left-wing Socialist hitherto playing ball with Italian Communists, has berated Moscow and announced that he is ready to join western social democracy.

For years, Secretary Dulles' brother Allen, head of Central Intelligence, has been trying to figure out a way to win over Nenni.
Eight years ago in Italy I tried to get Nenni to participate in the friendship train reception. He stuck with the Communists. But last week he took a public stand against communism. This could pave the way for a solid democratic, central-Catholic government in Italy. It's the most important development since the end of the war.

In Poland — workers and peasants, restless against communism, have been shot down by a government supposed to represent and protect workers and peasants.

For years, Polish-Americans in the United States have been trying to encourage such a movement. Ever since 1951, the crusade for freedom has been sending friendship-freedom balloon messages to the people of Poland.
Now, overnight, the Polish people have shown their ire against Moscow.

In Czechoslovakia — Riotous
students have been demanding more independence, more freedom of study. The Czech people have been demanding to know why Communist leaders were shot or hanged for emulating the independence of Tito and why Tito is now feted and salaamed in Moscow.

For five years the crusade for freedom has been sending propaganda balloons across the Iron Curtain into Czechoslovakia. Suddenly the Iron Curtain seems to evaporate. Suddenly Czech students go further than the fondest dreams of American propagandists.

In France, Belgium, Denmark, Britain — Communist parties are in bitter rebellion against their local Communist leaders because they never bucked the Stalin reign of terror. Maurice Thorez, the French Communist who used to spend his summer vacations as Stalin's guest, will probably be booted out of office.

In the United States — Communist leaders are so bewildered
they are almost running around in circles. How bewildered they are, how bitter at their leaders,
both past and present, is illustrated by the New York Daily Worker.

DAILY WORKER REVERSES

The Daily Worker's own teeth-gnashing editorials are more eloquent than anything I could write of what is happening in the Communist world.

"The blind and uncritical attitude of the Daily Worker in past years to the repression of the Soviet Union . . ." says the Daily Worker of itself in chastising itself for not challenging the rule of Stalin.

"We are wholly ignorant that these crimes had been committed," means the Daily Worker,
"yet there was reputable evidence had we but listened. How then explain our consistent denunciation of many people as 'enemies' of the working class because they condemned these crimes? We were wrong, terribly wrong . . ."

Joseph Clark in a Daily Worker column headed "Lenin Is No Icon To Hang On The Wall," proceeds to warn against other Soviet leaders besides Stalin.

"Though Stalin's brutal misrule was a drastic departure from Lenin's theories," writes Clark, "it would be wrong to make a 'cult'
out of Lenin or anybody else . . .
how absurd to think that in our country the specific features of the Russian revolution can have any application. How sad that some Marxists to this very day take a pamphlet by Lenin and instead of studying it for its essence, substitute it for a study of America."

HOWARD FAST DISCOVERS AMERICA

But the most scathing criticism of Moscow, the most soul-searching reaching for America, was written in the Daily Worker by the Communist novelist, Howard Fast, who went to jail in 1947 for refusing to answer congressional questions.

"It (Khrushchev's speech) is a strange and awful document," wrote Fast, "perhaps with parallel in history; and one must face
the fact that it itemizes a record in barbarism and paranoid blood lust that will be a lasting and shameful memory to civilized man . . ."

"I for one looked hopefully but vainly at the end of the document for a pledge that the last execution had taken place on Soviet soil. I looked for a pledge of civil rights, for the sacred right of habeas corpus, of public appeals to higher courts of final judgment by one's peers rather than by professional judges . . .

"Instead I learned that three more executions had been announced from the Soviet Union and my stomach turned over with the blood letting, with the madness of vengeance and counter vengeance, of suspicion and counter suspicion.

"I don't think anything that happened or is happening here in these United States could make me an enemy of the United States, a land I love so deeply and which has given me so much . . ."

"Where I failed miserably, and where I swear by all that is holy that I shall not fail again was in not exercising the same judgment toward the Soviet Union.

"Never again will I remain silent when I can recognize injustice
— regardless of how that injustice
may be wrapped in the dirty linen of expediency or necessity."

These are some of the highlights of what is happening in the Communist world today. Just what it means, just what we

Teen Town Notes

By Joan Seright

Well the ole' news well is just about pumped out. It's just too hot for the kids to make news so we'll just have to be content with what little I know.

Friday night our chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Morris Skaggs.
Monday the chaperones were Mr.
and Mrs. Ed Brantley and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Rushing. We sure appreciate those chaperones giving up a night to spend with us.

Don't forget to try all the new candy bars we have at the Penthouse and the Ice Cream.

happy vacations begin in a Chevy

You'll love to travel in it, because it loves to travel! When you get this Chevrolet out on the road, you'll want to keep going—and so will the whole family.

Of course, even in a Chevrolet the happiest vacations may involve one or two minor problems. Like fidgety small fry who want gallons of water and keep asking if you're almost there. The big things, though, are beautifully taken care of by this roomy Chevrolet's smooth and easy way of going. That's for sure.

The fact is, few cars at any price hold the road with Chevy's grace, with its solid feeling of stability. And with horsepower up to 225, Chevrolet moves out like a whiplash, for safer passing.
It's no wonder that so many people who used to buy higher priced cars are changing to Chevrolet!

Announce Marriage of Ruth Williams and William D. Norris

Mr. and Mrs. Noble Williams of Galatia are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Ruth, to William D. Norris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Norris of Norris City. The wedding ceremony was performed April 15 by the Rev. L. D. Hill, Baptist minister at Corinth, Miss.

The bride and groom are both teachers at the Norris City community high school at Norris City.

Parker Seiler and Lynn Neal once bled from Los Angeles to New York in 25 days, six hours, and 20 minutes.

Milligan Reunion Held At Herod Springs Church

The Milligan family reunion was held Sunday, July 1, at Herod Springs Baptist church.

At 10 a. m. the meeting opened with congregational singing and with prayer by Rev. Cecil Gibbons. Rev. W. J. Milligan gave the welcoming speech.

The annual sermon was preached by Rev. Ralph Ferrell who gave an inspiring talk, taking his scripture from the fifth chapter of Romans.

Present at the reunion were six of the original Milligan family, John A. Milligan, J. L. Milligan, Henry Milligan, Lewis Milligan, Mrs. Vicia Hancock and Mrs. Martha Banks. Each of them spoke briefly, expressing their appreciation at being able to be present.

Two great-granddaughters of J. L. Milligan sang solos, "Rock of My Soul" and "Have Faith, Hope and Charity."

A member of the family coming the farthest distance was Orval Milligan whose home is in Wisconsin.

Rev. W. J. Milligan was retained as moderator for the coming year as well as the committees, secretary and treasurer.

Approximately 200 persons enjoyed a bountiful meal during the noon hour at Fairy Cliff.

Waldo Gibbs Honored With Birthday Dinner

A surprise birthday dinner was held on July 4 in honor of Waldo Gibbs at his home, 501 South Texas street.

Friends, relatives and neighbors gathered to celebrate the occasion and were served an assorted buffet dinner with a beautifully decorated cake.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Gene Cullum and Rodney, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gibbs and Danny, Mr. and Mrs. Oral Webb and John Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Don Cooper and Terry Don, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Angelly and sons, Douglas, Larry, Roger and Monte Keith, Rev. Cecil Gibbons, Carol Gibbs and the hostess, Mrs. Waldo Gibbs and children, Faye and Danny.

The wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Angelly was also observed.

Cottage Grove Home Bureau Elects Officers

The Cottage Grove Home Bureau met Wednesday, July 4, at the home of Mrs. Eugene Miller.

The meeting was called to order by the vice chairman, Mrs. Eugene Lamkin, and roll call was answered by eleven members stating a "safety practice for July 4." Minutes were read and approved.

A family night was planned for Friday, July 13 at Pounds Hollow. Supper will be served at 6 p. m. preceded with swimming. Mildred Miller and Mildred Alvey are in charge of the arrangement committees.

The nominating committee made a report and the following were elected officers for the coming year: Chairman, Mrs. J. C. Miller; vice chairman, Mrs. Bill Kaid; secretary and reporter, Mrs. Kenneth Berry; program chairman, Mrs. Eugene Miller; health chairman, Mrs. L. A. Berry; 4-H chairman, Mrs. Raymond Alvey; flower chairman, Mrs. L. A. Murphy.

Mrs. Raymond Alvey gave a 4-H report after which Mrs. Bill Kaid and Mrs. Alfred Johnson gave the major lesson "Selection and Care of Small Electrical Equipment."

The hostess served refreshments of lemonade and cookies to the following: Mrs. Raymond Alvey, Mrs. Mabel Alvey, Mrs. Kenneth Berry, Mrs. Minnie Huoqins, Mrs. Alfred Johnson, Mrs. Bill Kaid, Mrs. Eugene Lamkin, Mrs. Clyde Miller, Mrs. J. C. Miller, Mrs. Willie Robinson, and two visitors, Mrs. Alvin Gates and Mrs. Loretta Partain.

There will be no meeting in August which is vacation month. The September meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Raymond Alvey.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Clark and children of Grayville, Harry Clark, Miss Beulah Clark and Miss Rowena Clark of Crossville were house guests over the July 4th holidays of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Workman, RFD 1, Harrisburg.

On the Campus This Fall--Slim Lines

For classroom hours, the college girl will wear the slim skirt this fall. But when it comes to dates, she'll blossom out in wide skirts and even prop them with petticoats. We show the slim silhouette (left) in Smarte's slip-over ridged cotton knit with turtle neck worn with a cotton knit sheath skirt. Colors are camel and black. Lightly quilted cotton print (center) by Flugelman is used for little jacket and wide skirt. Jacket has black velvet collar and lace braid trim. Skirt for classroom wear (right) by Century is in tweed, is belted and has the classic lines that college girls love. It would look equally well with shirts.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. (Pete) Burton were called to Madisonville, Ky., Thursday for the funeral of his nephew, Robert Burton, who died Tuesday of a heart ailment.

He was the son of the Rev. John L. Burton, Frankfort, Ohio, who died two months ago. Mr. and Mrs. Burton were accompanied home by another nephew, John L. Burton Jr., and his wife and daughter, Kimberlin, of Keokuk, Ia., who will spend the week end here.

Preacher Killed By Construction Company Truck

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. — A 68-year-old Roanoke, Va., preacher was killed Thursday when a construction truck backed over him here.

The victim, Merritt Lee Hardin, had formerly lived in Bloomington as a barber and preacher. He recently served as pastor of the Assemblies of God Church in Pembroke, Va.

Police said there were no witnesses to the accident, and that Hardin's body was later discovered beneath the truck. He had apparently been watching the construction crews.

The driver of the truck, John Moretz, Bloomington, was taken to a hospital suffering from shock, but was later released.

Hardin is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Childress and a son, David, both of Roanoke; another son, Kenneth, of White Cloud, Mich. He had been visiting a third son, Herschel in Decatur, Ill., prior to his death.

HOLLYWOOD TODAY!

MOVIES - TV - RADIO
by Erskine Johnson

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — The movie industry is wailing the blues again.

The last four weeks, according to movie trade papers, has been the low of all time in theater grosses. Major companies are said to be "shocked." Theater operators are said to be "stunned."

There's nothing wrong with the movies on the market. Many good films are playing. "But big and little," it's said, "the ticket sales, as reported by both distributors and exhibitors, are hitting new lows."

A Department of Commerce survey reports a serious postwar decline in motion picture admissions — down 25 per cent from booming 1946.

The operator of one of the nation's largest independent circuits recently told the editor of a Hollywood trade paper: "Business is bad. We've had to close quite a few of our houses and will probably close down some of the others. But at the same time we are opening more drive-ins. Theater business will never be what it formerly was. We are still making money. Not what we used to bank, but profits."

TELEVISION COMPETITION is the number one reason for Hollywood's lost audience. U. S. theaters are now only supplying around 37 per cent of the world's gross on motion pictures.

"Movies for the international market" is Hollywood's new battle cry. It means movies for non-TV countries.

But there are other reasons for Hollywood's lost U. S. audience. Four years ago, with a bad case of TV jitters, the major studios wiped out their big long-term contract lists of high-priced stars. It was a serious mistake.

The motion picture business was built on the so-called star system. The public was educated to be attracted to the theater by the name of the stars in the picture.

"WE'LL BUILD NEW STARS but pay 'em less," the studios said while swinging the axe on their star lists. Many of the suddenly unemployed stars went to TV and audiences followed them. Others formed their own independent companies and started producing movies themselves.

The "new stars" promised by the major studios failed to materialize. As one studio head, Frank Freeman of Paramount, says: "Every studio in Hollywood is struggling with this problem of new personalities but except in rare cases receives little or no help from the exhibitor."

Without stars, the major studios have been forced into "package" deals with independent companies controlling stars and into percentage deals like Paramount's contract with Jimmy Stewart to star in "Strategic Air Command."

PARAMOUNT had to recoup almost $4,500,000 on the film before it could get one penny of profit — and the company had only a 50 per cent interest in the profits, with Stewart collecting the other 50 per cent in lieu of compensation for his services.

In the case of "White Christmas," 70 per cent of the profits went to Bing Crosby, Danny Kaye and Irving Berlin.

Now all of the major studios are selling their huge film libraries to television. The Warner Brothers not only sold their old films but also their studio. Republic studio is on the verge of being sold. Howard Hughes sold RKO studio last year. All of Hollywood's independent studio lots have been converted for telefilm production.

No wonder the sale of relaxing pills in Hollywood tops the nation. And no wonder Hollywood envies Walt Disney, whose business is booming. When Walt doesn't like one of his cartoon stars, he tears him up and draws a new one.

FBI Captures Bank Robbery Suspect
STARKE, Fla. — The FBI Thursday night captured a suspect in a $28,000 bank robbery here and also arrested two accused accomplices.

The FBI identified the suspect as Clinton Emil Withington, 19, of Salmon, Idaho, and Empire, Nev., now stationed at the Cecil Field Auxiliary Naval Air Station near Jacksonville, Fla.

The other two were identified as Marvin Frederickson, 19, a sailor also based at Cecil Field, and Mary Ann Reid, 23, Jacksonville. Both were charged with being accessories after the crime. Details of the captures were not announced immediately.

Hit-Run-Driver Drags Boy 14 Blocks to Death

KEY WEST, Fla. — Police today held a young fisherman as the driver of a hit-run car which dragged an 11-year-old bicyclist 14 blocks through town, past hundreds of horrified witnesses, to his death.

The death car lunged on at high speed despite outcries of bystanders, with the boy's bicycle dangling from the rear bumper and the boy bouncing behind, his foot hung in the twisted bicycle, police said.

Police Thursday arrested young Allan Harold Beck, 18, at a wharf where his shrimp boat was tied up and held him on a technical charge of manslaughter several hours after the death of Francis Joseph Biessel Jr.

Biessel's brother, Christopher, 10, who fell unhurt from the same bicycle when it was struck, scrambled to his feet and ran frantically after the car yelling, "For God's sake stop, mister! For God's sake, stop!"

Now all of the major studios are selling their huge film libraries to television. The Warner Brothers not only sold their old films but also their studio. Republic studio is on the verge of being sold. Howard Hughes sold RKO studio last year. All of Hollywood's independent studio lots have been converted for telefilm production.

Tall Drifter

By W. Edmunds Claussen

Copr. 1956 by W. Edmunds Claussen, Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

XXVI

They were still a mile from the Rafter C when Frank sensed the worst about to happen. He lifted the black to a full gallop, leaving Swenson's bay behind. Frank caught the sounds he had been dreading. Emmett Cash was running off the balance of Jean's horses.

There came the crash of a heavy gun, followed by Emmett's taunting laugh: "Careful, Alex. We wouldn't shoot at you—I wouldn't hurt my sister's riders. Just want my horses."

He heard Alex Jacob's yell across a long, grass and brush covered flat.

He caught his first sight of Alex, then, coming up fast on a dappled gray. The kid drew the horse up short, piling off his saddle and running a few yards before throwing himself belly downward behind the bear grass. There was a dark hump lying beside him that looked like a man's body. Alex's warning rang knife-clear: "Call out! If you want a shot keep on a'comin'!"

Frank Ude yelled his name with a grim smile plucking his mouth. A slug from one of these needle guns could pierce a hole in a man that was unbelievable. He never doubted the kid would have done it. Now Alex stood up, calling excitedly. Frank quit his saddle and stalked toward him. The man lying prone on the grass was Rickety.

Apparently his foot had tangled in his stirrup and his horse had dragged him over the range. The land here was reasonably free of large rocks, which was all that saved Rickety from death.

"I saw him go down," Alex told him tensely. "They walloped him on the back of the head while he was trying to hold his horses. He went over the side and his foot didn't come out of his oxbow. I didn't know if I ought to shoot Rickety's bay or Emmett. I shot at Emmett."

Groans came from Rickety while Frank worked over him. He didn't think there were any broken bones, but he wouldn't know until they had him in bed with a lamp lighted.

"They got the broncs," Alex said bitterly. "Every horse but a couple in the stable. Even your chestnut and Miss Jean's bay."

Frank's chestnut had been with the others in night pasture, and now his own violent anger began to unsteady him. The chestnut was a horse he wouldn't lose for all the land in the Signals. He pressed his fist down hard against the grass.

He was only vaguely conscious of boots beside him. Then Swenson's voice: "How bad? La Tour's not in Cashtown!"

"He's not too bad," Frank answered. He was surprised at the level tone of his voice. His blood was still coursing in anger through his veins. "We'll get a wagon so we can move him to headquarters."

"Wagon's here," Swenson said. "Tod's brought it in, along with Miss Jean."

Jean and Tod Drury had arrived while he'd been struggling with his anger and the loss of his gelding. Thought of the big chestnut being punished savagely under Emmett's spurs had been too much for him. He saw Drury leap from his rig and race toward them. There was a sharp sense of tragedy in Drury's face.

Rickety never regained consciousness while they transferred him.

Jean took the reins on the return to the ranch. They lifted Rickety and moved him to his bunk. He was coming to by this time.

Abruptly Rickety lifted himself on one elbow. "Get after them

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
Written for NEA Service

A surprising amount of cussing takes place in the normal conversation of a lot of people. It appears that many people cannot express themselves without expletives which defame both God and man. Most of this desecration in expression is thoughtless. Some of it results from a human desire to be blasé or worldly, but much is just bad habit.

It seems inconceivable that our vocabularies should be so limited that we cannot find proper words to describe the objects of our conversation. The little word "very" could be used more frequently and to good advantage by many of the worst offenders. "Extremely," "perfectly," "completely," and "surprisingly" could be substituted for the redundant adjectives which are not descriptive in any sense of the words used.

Many people are setting a poor example for the children of the nation when they limit their vocabularies to meaningless words. The words we use to describe people, their actions and daily events ought not to take God's name in vain.

One of the Ten Commandments is clear in this regard. Few people refuse to accept the Commandments even if they do not strive to obey the newer commandments of brotherhood, neighborliness and love. We cannot expect to raise the spiritual level of America nor of the world if we disregard this simple moral code which forms the foundation of moral law.

We must learn to respect God in our speech as well as in our other activities of morality and religious living.

County School Trustees Act On Five Petitions

The Saline County Board of School Trustees at their regular quarterly meeting held this week in the office of the county superintendent of schools, acted on the following petitions:

Mt. Pleasant, School District 32, was annexed to Greenhill, School District 61.

New Castle, School District 22, was annexed to Carrier Mills, School District 20.

Needmore, School District 1, was annexed to Galatia Consolidated School District 4.

The three schools which were annexed to adjoining districts failed to meet the educational requirements established by the office of public instruction and elected to consolidate with the neighboring districts so their children might have better educational opportunities.

The Board annexed the George Wesley farm to the Raleigh School District 34.

The final petition to be acted upon was a petition to detach territory from Eldorado Township High School, District 102, and annex to the Equality Township High School, District 55.

This petition was granted inasmuch as there was no opposition.

fuzztails, you boneheads! I'm all right. Get the horses!"

"We're going, Rickety," Frank promised. "We'll fetch back your horses." His glance crept over to Jean. "Keep your eye on him till we come home."

She was standing at the foot of Rickety's bunk. She wore a grave look and her mouth seemed to go a little tighter as she spoke. "They're my horses," she said flatly. "Do you expect I'll let you ride without me?"

"When you go," Rickety demanded from the bunk, "leave me a rifle—and the bottle of whisky."

Frank knew then he had been voted down. That Jean would ride with them to Emmett's. That trail would likely lead to Yates' place and a bitter fight. Outside in the yard Tod Drury and the kid already had saddled the extra horses. Frank climbed aboard his black, waiting until the others took down their cinches.

Low Chantry plodded steadily through the draw and up to the Yates shack. He didn't really give much thought to what he would do when he reached there.

He was thinking, instead, of Jonathan Yates. A poor fellow and proud, but a man to mend his fences in his own way. He'd ridden into this country about three years ago claiming to have lost his bride in a cattle stampede. He spent a lot of time in those days playing cards with Emmett.

Five minutes passed before he caught the vague outline of riders between the brush. He had already made up his mind these were Jean Cash's horses. Then Emmett's voice brought him face to face with reality.

"Stay with them, Jules. Marigny—give Jules a hand. Rest of you boys come with me."

They hit the grass and walked in a group toward the shack. One of the men said something low in warning. They all stopped short, looking at Chantry. Emmett took steady, long strides toward the door of the shack. "Been here long Lew?" he asked.

Carrier Mills Scout Troop No. 17, sponsored by the Baptist church, took its annual camping trip to Dixon Springs three days last week. Scoutmaster Lesslie Reeves was the adult in charge of training and regular camping army procedures were followed.

Patrols set up camp and tents and cooking necessities in good order and inspection took place every day and KP followed if needed. The Scoutmaster's regular Army experience and his fine ability in helping boys shows in the troop's discipline. The Rev. Ernest Ammon, pastor of the Baptist church, announces that the troop is being operated on high level of scouting. The boys are working on advancement every week. Those who attended the three day camping trip were:

In Memoriam
In memory of Grover Clayton who passed away July 6, 1954. I have lost my life's companion. A life linked with my own. And every day I miss him more. As I walk through life alone. The call was short, shock severe. To part with one I love so dear. No one knows the silent heart-aches.
Only those who have lost can tell
Of the grief I bear in silence
For the one I love so well.
I never knew that hearts could ache
With such a bitter pain.
Longing for a vanished face.
To hear his voice again,
I never knew that nights could be so lonely, cold and dim,
But oh, I learned so many things
Because of losing him.
If all the world were mine to give,
I would give it all and more,
To see his face I love so dear,
Come smiling through my door.
Sadly missed by wife, Mrs. Grover Clayton, and daughter, Mrs. Bill McElrath and family.

In Memoriam
In memory of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Rude, who would have been 70 and 72 on the 6 and 7 of July. You meant so much in life to us. That when you passed away The sun went down and it appeared The rain would always stay. We loved you and dreamed of you With all our gentle hearts, And it was more than we could bear
When we were forced to part. But after all: God made the world And He knew what was best. And in the wisdom of His ways, He called you to His rest. He must have had some reason Why He took you for His own, And why He wanted us to live And carry on alone.
So we must grieve no more, For surely you are happy up there.
We'll go on living bravely And you will be our prayer.
Sadly missed by Wilma, Wanda, and Roland.

Thomson Shoots For Third British Open Victory

HOYLAKE, Eng. (AP) — Peter Thomson of Australia was shooting today to become the first golfer since the turn of the century to win the British Open three years in a row and he was a strong favorite to get the job done.

Thomson Thursday shot his second straight one-under-par 70 to lead runner-up Latin American golfer, Enrique Bertolino of Argentina and Roberto de Vico of Mexico City with a 140 total against their 141 counts.

Only two Americans were left in the competition. Mike Souchak and Frank Stranahan each had 36 hole totals of 148. Gene Sarazen had a 152 which enabled him to qualify but he withdrew to fly home to the U. S. for memorial rites for a friend killed in the Grand Canyon airplane disaster.

A fourth U. S. entrant, Peter Burke, Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y., the U. S. Seniors entrant, failed to qualify.

Pickford's Win 8th Straight In Kiwanis Play

By David Nelson

Pickford's downed the Braves, 10-6, and Gibbons won a forfeit from Raleigh, 9-0, in Kiwanis league play Thursday.

Pickford's won their eighth consecutive game as they continued to dominate play in the Three-I league by beating the Braves in a well played contest, 10-6.

The winners led all the way, scoring four runs in the first inning, one in the third, two in the fourth and one each in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings. The losers tallied once in the first, twice in the third, once in the fifth and two times in the seventh.

Nelson and Beggs combined on the hill for Pickford's, giving up six runs on five base hits, two errors and seven bases on balls while striking out 10. E. Henshaw pitched all the way for the Braves, allowing 10 runs, 11 free passes.

Beggs led the winners at bat with three singles and Hefner hit safely three times for the losers. This was the Braves' sixth defeat in as many games.

Gibbons won a forfeit when Raleigh failed to show up for its scheduled game.

Mickey Mantle Doubtful Starter For All-Star Tilt

NEW YORK (AP) — Slugger Mickey Mantle is expected to see at least limited duty with the New York Yankees within a few days but is still a doubtful starter for the American League in next Tuesday's All-Star game.

Dr. Sydney Gaynor, the Yankees' club physician, said Thursday night after X-rays of Mantle's injured right leg that the young centerfielder has a sprain of ligaments of the outer aspect of the right knee. He said the injury does not appear serious and predicted Mantle "could play in a day or two."

Dr. Gaynor also said Mantle would wear a single-hinge brace on the knee beginning today and probably would pinch hit while wearing it.

It's doubtful if Mantle could play full time with it, however.

Mantle injured the knee making a throw from centerfield in the 11th inning of the Yankees' 7-6 loss to the Boston Red Sox on July 4. Because he has a record of being a slow healer, the Yankees expressed fears that he might be sidelined for an extended period.

Mantle currently leads the majors with 29 homers, a .371 batting average and 71 runs batted in. He is four games ahead of the pace set by Babe Ruth in 1927 when he set the all-time mark of 60 homers.

Chicago Cubs, 'Spoilers' of National League, Knock Braves Out of First Place

By United Press

Stan Hack's Chicago Cubs won't win the National League pennant this year but it looks like they'll have a lot to say about who does come out on top in the crazy, mixed-up scramble.

The circuit's "sad sack" team until the Memorial Day milestone, the Cubs have developed into official "spoilers" with a 20-14 pace since June 1 that's topped only by the Brooklyn Dodgers' 21-14 rate since that date. And, in the last week they've taken five of eight games from the Milwaukee Braves, St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds.

The Cubs made it three out of their last five with the Braves last night when Vito Valentinetti and Jim Brosnan collaborated in a four-hit, 7-1 triumph. The loss knocked the Braves out of first place and enabled the idle Redlegs to take over the top rung by three percentage points.

Vito Injures Knee

Valentinetti limited the Braves to three hits in 4 1-3 innings but had to retire with a strained ligament in his left knee when he collided with Wes Covington in a play at the plate in the fifth inning. Jim Brosnan, whose only other victory was over the Braves on May 30, held them to one hit the rest of the way to receive credit for the win.

Eddie Miksis homered to snap a 1-1 tie with two out in the seventh inning and the Cubs went on to tally four more runs to sew up the game. Hobie Landrith and Brosnan singled in the wake of Miksis homer and Don Hoak followed with a double. Gene Baker singled home two runs and another tallied on Dee Fondy's double.

The loss left little doubt in Fred Haney's mind that his "honey-moon" as manager of the Braves is over. The Braves reeled off 11 straight victories when Haney took over but have lost seven of their last 11 games during which they have scored a total of 35 runs. Ford Wins 10th

Oil Drilling Contractors To Picnic at Carmi

The Tri-State chapter of the American Association of Oil Well Drilling Contractors will enjoy their annual family picnic at the Carmi Country club next Wednesday, July 11. The announcement was made by Don Slape, the chapter chairman of Olney.

Tom Whittington, Carmi, has been appointed chairman of the local committee to plan the events along with Hunter Eakle of Evansville, Ind. Mr. Whittington said the program will include an all day golf tournament with Pursie Pipes, of Mt. Vernon, Ill., chairman, a social hour from 5 to 6 p. m. and a buffet supper at the Country Club starting at 6:15 p. m.

A dance with music by Jimmie Boyd, one of the area's better known dance bands, will be the feature event from 8 p. m. to midnight.

Organized in 1940, the association's growth can be traced to those drilling contractors who felt the need for pooling industry knowledge and effort for a continuing united attack on common problems. Drillers cooperate in the study and dissemination of information resulting in mutual benefit to the petroleum industry and the general economy of the nation.

Rushings Win Vacation Award

A week in Wisconsin's vacationland awaits Mr. and Mrs. Bob Rushing, 118 West Lincoln, who will be honored by his employer, Hardware Mutuals of Stevens Point, Wisconsin.

Mr. Rushing led all other Hardware Mutuals' salesmen last year in the firm's Illinois district. The thirteen sales leaders and their wives will meet in Stevens Point Sunday, July 8. After a Monday breakfast with the company's president, Carl N. Jacobs, a tour of the home office building, and a business meeting, they will travel to Wisconsin's famed Door county for a week of vacationing.

There, on the peninsula jutting out into Lake Michigan they will be guests of the company at Maxwellton Braes, one of the Midwest's outstanding resorts. Fishing, tours of the scenic peninsula and its quaint fishing villages, golf and boat trips to nearby islands will be enjoyed by the group.

Mr. Rushing won the honor in competition with 52 other salesmen in this territory.

History of Eddyville Reported at Meeting

den house was still standing in 1946. People used this place to go to wash their clothes and for picnics and camping.

Reddick Hollow, west of Raum Tower, about seven miles from Eddyville on Lusk creek, near Blowing Springs, Porter Springs and Alum Springs. In later years all vegetation around Alum Springs was killed, presumably from mineral contents of this water.

Freeze cave, located one mile south of Eddyville. This is a dry place where you crawl through a small hole to enter and has stalactites and many unexplored rooms.

Jackson Hollow, located three miles west of Eddyville, is the location of the Jackson cave. A family by the name of McNeel lived in this cave and a son by the name of Jake was born there. Peter cave was where the children of the nearby school went to get state pencils. Panther cave was where Uncle Ged Bailey killed the last panther that was known to be killed in this territory. Sand cave, five miles west of Eddyville, is where people got their sand to make chimneys and flues.

Clardy Springs, about five miles west of Eddyville, was a very strong stream. There the early settlers gathered to have annual barbeques and picnics. Also there is the Indian Ladder composed of red cedar used by the Indians to carry water up the bluff.

The Whitesides Tannery, or what used to be called Old Tan Yard, is located three miles southwest of Eddyville. Reeding Maynor lives there at the present but there is no sign of the operations there now. It received its name from George Whitesides, who operated it. There were 12 or more pits about four feet wide and varying in length which were lined with heavy oak plank and contained a mixture of wood and ashes used in removing the hair from hides, and then tan bark was used to tan the hide from which shoes and harness were made. Carl Maynor operated a blacksmith and wagon shop at the same place.

The village of Eddyville was named after a man named Edward Fulgham, but the first post office was named Book, and was about two miles north of the present village site. The present post office was opened October 18, 1869. A wool mill was established at Eddyville about 1880 and operated about twenty years. The mill used horse power and was operated by Columbus Wilson.

The first church, which was Methodist, was organized by B. W. Hollaway, under a shed 40 by 80 feet. The first church was built in 1872. The upper floor was occupied by the Masonic lodge. A Baptist church was organized in 1890 by Knoz Trovillion and Bert Baker.

A grist mill once stood atop Frieze Hill. It was owned by Eddie Fulgham and was operated by horse power, the horse walking in a circle. The next mill was owned by James Mason and was operated by steam and had sieves. This was one half mile north of the present village.

Eddyville was once an important tobacco market and much tobacco was bought and taken to the Ohio river for shipment. Eddyville used to have one flour mill, one grist mill, one blacksmith shop, post office, three general stores, two coffin shops, where the operators made coffins out of oak and poplar lumber, and two doctors most of the time. Bojarth was the first doctor then Dr. Fulkerson. Dr. Hart, Dr. Ford, Dr. Alonzo Glass, Dr. Ephraim Barger, Dr. Joe Lightner and Dr. Brown began practice here.

There also were lots of cattle and horses and mules raised around Eddyville and a colt show was held here each year with a barbeque and picnic, which drew about 300 or more people from surrounding counties.

The recreation consisted of church activities, singing schools and ice cream socials. The people were very devoted to their churches and singing.

There was a bank here until the holiday in the early 1930's and there were also two breeding barns, operated by Will Stone and Newt Robbs.

Eddyville has its own telephone system which has been there for about 50 years.

Boom In Use of Aluminum Spurs Revolution In American Living

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Want to see a revolution?

Look in your freezer. Inspect a new house. Check your new car. Notice the office building going up downtown.

You won't have to look hard to see a revolution in American living being caused by light, shiny aluminum.

Aluminum production has doubled during each 10-year period since 1900 to become second in metals only to iron and steel. There's no end in sight to its expansion.

Hottest current boom is in aluminum food packages. A wide range of frozen foods and whole meals, sold in aluminum containers which also serve as the cooking pan, are on the market.

A big section of the fishing industry is shifting to aluminum cans. It has now been established that aluminum does not cause vitamin C to deteriorate.

The building business is the biggest user of aluminum and fastest to expand its use of the light metal. Today there are 70 "skyscrapers" and 400 major office buildings under construction which will have aluminum "skins" or "curtain walls."

In homes aluminum screens, trim, gutters, furniture, screen doors and awnings and blinds are also enjoying immense popularity. About 40 per cent of all window frames made today are aluminum. For many years high tension transmission lines have been aluminum. Newest advance is in the use of aluminum low-tension transmission lines, including home wiring.

Transfer Lane From SIU Forest Research Center

CARBONDALE, Ill. — The transfer of Richard D. Lane and two other foresters of the Carbondale U. S. Forest Research Center at Southern Illinois University was announced today by W. G. McGinnies, Columbus, O., director of the Central States Forest Experiment Station which operates the Carbondale Center.

Lane, forester in charge of the Carbondale Center, expects to leave by mid-September to become chief of the division of forest management research in the Northeastern Forest Experiment Station, Upper Darby, Pa. The Station includes nine research centers covering 12 northeastern states.

Chester Jensen, silviculturist, and Allan W. Green, junior forester, are the other two who will move. Jensen will become a mensurationist at the Ames (Ia.) U. S. Forest Research Center on the Iowa State College campus, and Green has obtained a year's educational leave to complete work for a master's degree in forestry at Purdue University.

Replacements will be announced later, McGinnies said.

Lane, native of White Cottage, Ohio, came to Carbondale in January, 1947, to take charge of the six-months-old Carbondale Forest Research Center. Previously he had held forestry appointments in Missouri, Columbus (O.), and Ames. His bachelor's and master's degrees in forestry were received at Iowa State College.

Since Lane's arrival the Carbondale Research Center staff of technical foresters has grown from four to 14. During this time the Kaskaskia Experimental Forest in Hardin County, outdoor laboratory for the Center, has been expanded and improved. A Wood Products Pilot Plant opening last September at the SIU Vocational Technical Institute campus, has been the culmination of more than two years of cooperative effort by SIU and the Carbondale Center for joint programs of research and student training in the field of utilizing forest products.

Major research projects at the Carbondale Center under Lane's direction have been forest management; forest plantings; and logging, milling, utilizing and marketing forest products.

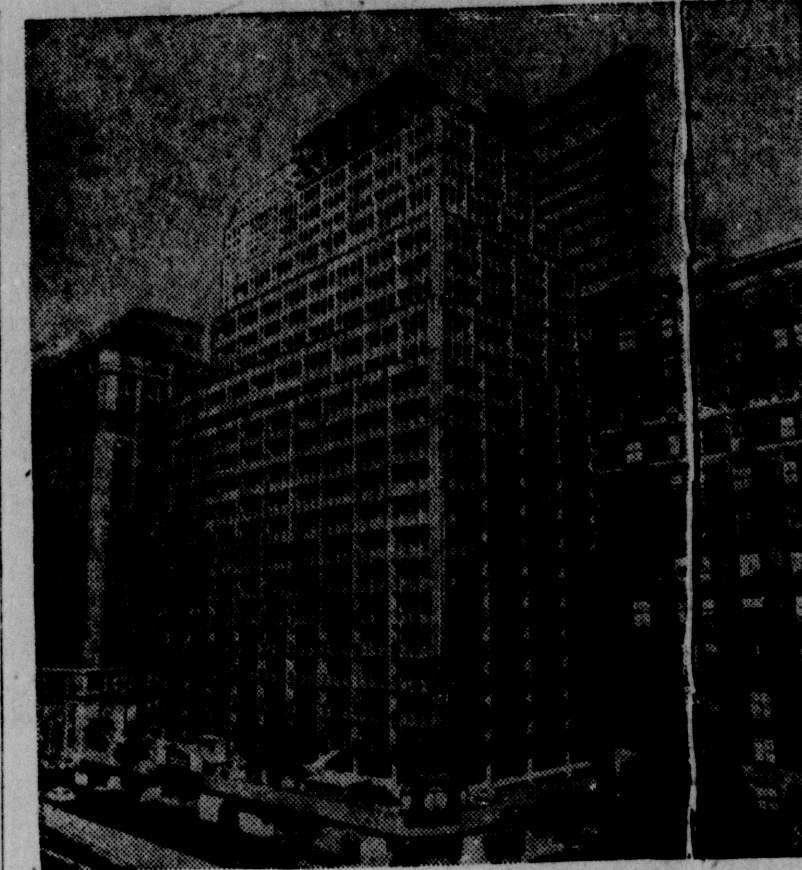

Columnist Rejects Offer of Eyes from John Gilbert Graham

CANON CITY, Colo. (AP) — John Gilbert Graham, awaiting execution at Colorado State Prison here next month, remained silent Thursday night on offer he made of his eyes to labor columnist Victor Riesel of the New York Daily Mirror.

Graham made the secret offer through his attorney, John J. Gibbons, but Riesel, who was blinded when an assailant threw acid in his eyes, had to reject it because a cornea transplant would not restore his sight.

Prison officials said Graham would not comment on Riesel's rejection of his offer.

Graham, who was convicted of sabotaging an airliner last Nov. 1 which crashed near Longmont, Colo., has asked to be executed in the gas chamber with "all convenient speed." He has refused to permit his attorneys to appeal the conviction.

IMPACT OF ALUMINUM on face of America is greatest in building industry. This New York skyscraper has an aluminum "skin."

ing. Telephone lines are beginning to be made of aluminum.

Last year enough aluminum pipe for irrigation systems was made to reach halfway around the world. This was an increase of 22 per cent.

In auto and train manufacturing aluminum is booming. Last year the average car had 30 pounds of aluminum in trim and motor parts. The 1956 models average 50 lbs. By 1960 they will carry 200 pounds, car makers claim. Aluminum motor blocks are coming soon.

Lightweight aluminum rail equipment such as the Aerotrain and Train X are the hope of the railroad passenger industry. The aircraft industry demand will continue to grow.

Aluminum's light weight, resistance to corrosion, workability and stable price are its chief advantages. It is selling today at only 15 per cent above its average price in 1939. In the same period prices per pound jumped 300 per cent; lead, 200 per cent; zinc, 130 per cent; tin, 90 per cent; and steel billets, 125 per cent.

Aluminum is the most abundant of all metallic elements in the earth's crust. But it wasn't until

Girl Dies After Drinking Anti-Freeze

DETROIT (AP) — A drink from a harmless looking jug bearing a cider label cost a 14-year-old Detroit girl her life.

Charlotte Englehart died Thursday less than 48 hours after drinking a cup of anti-freeze from the jug at a party attended by some 25 boys and girls.

Homicide detectives said six young boys admitted taking the jug from a gas station and passing among guests at the party in the belief it was cider.

Most of the young guests spit out the fluid but Charlotte swallowed her portion.

New Ransom Demands By Baby Kidnaper

WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP) — A person who said he was the kidnaper of month-old Peter Weinberger telephoned the child's father today and made new ransom demands, the father, Morris Weinberger, reported.

It was not made known whether the caller was a woman or a man. The demands made also were not made public.

But Weinberger said the caller told him: "I'll be watching the afternoon paper for your reply."

He asked newsmen to print this reply: "Am ready to meet your demands. Awaiting your call."

The call was the first break in the case since the infant was kidnapped from a covered patio of his parents' home about 3 p. m. on the Fourth of July.

Attempts to pay the $2,000 ransom demanded in a note left on the patio failed Thursday. Dummy packages were placed as directed in the kidnaper note, but the kidnaper could not have picked them up without revealing himself, and they were untouched.

Weinberger announced this morning that the family had offered the kidnaper a blank check, for any amount he chooses to fill in in payment for safe return of the child.

He said the check has been written by his uncle, Marnie Weinberger, an executive of the family's New Jersey drug firm.

"My uncle isn't a rich man," Weinberger said, "but he will meet any demand the kidnaper makes. He (the kidnaper) can fill out the check, and if there's not enough money in the bank my uncle will guarantee the amount he writes on the check will be given to him in cash."

Police said they had made "no progress" and found no useful clues in their search for the child.

Two Children Burn to Death

GREENCASTLE, Ind. (AP) — Two small children were burned to death early today when fire swept a trailer home occupied by five children and three adults.

Dead were Warren Eugene Rumley, 4, and Linda Lou Bell, 2. Witnesses said the trailer, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rumley, was a mass of flames when neighbors discovered the fire at 5 a. m.

Rumley managed to rescue three of the children and alert the two adults. His son and the Bell child were asleep in a bunk bed in the middle of the trailer and could not be reached.

Indicted on Bank Robbery Charges, Tries to Hang Self

CHICAGO (AP) — Edward C. Bond, 30, Joliet, indicted on bank robbery charges, was under close guard today following a suicide attempt.

Police revealed that Bond tried to hang himself Tuesday, and has since been closely watched by guards.

Bond and two others, Edward L. Arnold, 28, and Edward W. Riley, 33, both of Kenosha, Wis., were indicted by a federal grand jury for the $4,172 robbery of a Lake Villa, Ill., bank June 7.

Riley's arrest by federal agents in Alhambra, Calif., climaxed a roundup of three men.

Girl, 18, Bitten by Cobra, Dies Before Navy Jet Can Arrive for Transfusion

MIAMI (AP) — "My blood could have saved her," snake handler William Haast said today, but a Navy jet could not outrun the deadly cobra venom in the veins of an 18-year-old girl.

Haast, who claims a transfusion of his blood will save snake bite victims, was sped toward New Orleans in the jet Thursday night in a desperate attempt to save Miss Irene Raub after she was bitten by the dread reptile.

But after less than an hour's flight the Marine pilot received a radio report that Miss Raub had died in an iron lung at New Orleans where she was rushed from her snake farm at LaPlace, La.

Snake Bite Immunity

Haast, owner of a live snake museum he calls a serpentarium, has survived 57 bites of deadly snakes and now claims immunity to their venom. Haast has given such transfusions of his blood to four snake bite victims thus far in the past two years and all have survived.

Seven Deny Receiving Hodge Checks

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Daily News said today it had examined records on 15 checks listed as issued by the office of State Auditor Orville E. Hodge.

In another of its series on the operations of Hodge's office, the News said microfilm records kept by State Treasurer Warren E. Wright showed the checks issued against Hodge's contractual services accounts last Sept. 12.

The News said 7 of the 15 companies or individuals listed as having been issued the checks denied they received them. Four others declined comment. Three could not be reached, the newspaper said. One said he did receive a $15,000 check, the story said.

The story said the 15 checks totaled nearly $180,000.

Hodge issued a statement through his Springfield offices saying "these new charges shock me."

"I am immediately beginning my own investigation to get at the truth and, if there has been a fraud on the state, to discover and punish the guilty parties," Hodge said.

To Emphasize Air Field Dispersal Plan in Europe

PARIS (AP) — European defense will be bolstered by a new dispersed system of "satellite" airfields, Gen. Courtland Van Rensselaer Schuyler revealed Thursday.

Schuyler, chief of staff of Supreme Headquarters of Allied Powers in Europe, outlined new thinking on atomic - age defense. He said SHAPE will emphasize more and smaller dispersed airfields.

He also revealed that United States forces are now ready to back other troops in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization with atomic weapons.

"The U. S. air forces are ready to drop nuclear bombs in close support of NATO forces from Norway to Turkey," Schuyler declared.

The old airfield plan was to have 174 airfields ready for use by the end of this year, each capable of supporting wings of 75 planes. The new concept, the SHAPE chief of staff said, is to have a total of about 250 fields, including smaller satellite units capable of supporting only 25 planes.

Bundren Rites at Stonefort Saturday

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Teresa Bundren, Carrier Mills resident who died Wednesday at 10:20 p. m. at the Lightner hospital, will be Saturday at 10 a. m. at St. Francis de Salle Catholic church in Stonefort.

Burial will be in St. Francis de Salle cemetery at New Burnside.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Minnie Gleyre, Mrs. Nellie Moore, both of Carrier Mills, and Mrs. Margaret Jackson of the Liberty community; one son, John Bundren, Harrisburg; 11 grandchildren and eight great grandchildren. She also leaves three brothers: Tom McCabe, Marion, Charles and Hugh McCabe of Stonefort. One brother, James McCabe, preceded her in death, dying in February of this year.

The Thornton funeral home of Carrier Mills is in charge.

Window Washer Falls to Death

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A window washer hurtled to his death when a scaffolding broke three stories above the street Thursday.

Robert E. Wells, 45, broke his neck in front of the Tech High School, where he had been working, authorities said.

Haast says he immunizes himself by extracting the cobra venom through the snake's fangs and preparing a solution which he injects into himself by needle.

State police rushed Miss Raub to Charity Hospital in New Orleans after a hooded cobra bit her wrist. The venom paralyzed her respiratory muscles and she was placed in an iron lung.

Hospital officials said her heart stopped beating at 7 p. m. Surgeons made a quick incision in her chest and massaged the heart until it started beating again.

Cobra Serum Unavailable

Authorities searched frantically for cobra serum. Doctors said the hospital was stocked with serum for practically every kind of snake but of the rare cobra. They contacted Haast in desperation.

A helicopter flew Haast from his serpentarium to the Miami Air Terminal where Marine Lt. George H. Lee, a reserve trainee from South Weymouth, Mass., was reading his jet for takeoff.

They were in the air at 8:30 p. m., the exact moment Miss Raub died, but were not aware of her death until they had completed about half of the hour and 45 minute flight.

Miss Raub's uncle, C. C. McClung, said he had warned his niece "not to play" with the cobras.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A picture of President Eisenhower will grace the cover of the GOP national convention program instead of a picture showing three nude men in a state of despair.

The substitution came about at the insistence of Mayor George Christopher, who felt the three-some was hardly appropriate to a gathering with the theme, "peace, progress and prosperity."

"I've been getting complaints from Republicans who have received copies of the cover," the mayor said. "Some of the women seem to think it's improper. I can't see anything obscene about it, but I wouldn't say it's a very healthy way to depict the Republican Party."

"They look as if they've been kicked."

The sculpture on which the original cover was based is a famous representation of dead souls at the gate of hell. The sculptor, Auguste Rodin, prepared the piece as part of a giant tableau of statuary for a Paris museum.

The tableau originally was intended to bear the legend: "Abandon all hope, ye who enter here."

The three men stand shoulder to shoulder, their heads lolling, their mouths agape and their eyes closed.

A local commercial artist, Leo Mannheimer, submitted the three shapes as one of 16 possible cover designs. Republicans officials here and in Washington approved them as best expressing the convention theme of "unity."

A printing firm had already run 13,000 copies through two of four colors when orders came Thursday night to abandon the design. It was estimated the switch to a new design will cost $3,000 to $4,000.

Christopher's objections prompted the committee in charge of the program to pick a new subject less likely to provoke GOP censure. It settled on the President.

AF Stratotanker Explodes; Members Of Crew Missing

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — The Air Force announced that a KC97 Stratotanker from Lake Charles, La., on temporary duty in Labrador, exploded today and burst into flames. The crewmembers were listed as missing.

Capt. George Sportswood, public information officer at the Lake Charles Air Force Base, said a spokesman from a sister plane said he saw the aircraft burst into flames and crash 45 miles north of Goose Bay Air Force Base, Labrador.

The spokesman said there were no parachutes observed.

Sportswood said the crewmembers included:

2nd Lt. Donald L. Flater, 23, Bloomfield, Ind.

Airman 2. C. William L. Falconer, 21, Marion, Iowa.

Proposes Study for Paying for Property Damaged by Jet Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Patrick J. Hillings (R-Calif) Thursday proposed a House investigation to study means of repaying persons whose property is damaged by jet airplanes cracking the sound barrier.

He said that the federal government has a "basic responsibility" to pay persons for this damage since only government aircraft are using jet engines.

Hillings said the force caused by the jets' cracking the sound barrier has cracked walls, broken windows and smashed dishes in homes.

U. S. Steel Makes It Easier on Pickets

By United Press

The U. S. Steel Corp. gave pickets outside its Gary, Ind., plant some of the comforts of home today.

It ran an electric power line from the plant to the gates so that striking steel workers outside could hook up a television set.

The company also ran hot and cold water pipes out to connect the pickets' sanitary facilities to the plant sewage system.

A company spokesman said U. S. Steel was just trying "to make it a little easier for the pickets."

Health Service Reports Decrease In Polio Cases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Public Health Service today reported a "substantial decrease" in polio cases during the first six months of 1956.

The 2,656 cases reported in the first six months fell more than 1,000 cases short of the 3,706 reported during the first half of 1955.

The figures on paralytic cases are somewhat less favorable. The 1,399 cases reported so far this year are only slightly behind the 1,482 reported during the first six months last year.

The health service said 258 new cases were reported last week compared with 333 during the same week last year. Most of the new cases were in California 50, Texas 41, Illinois 21 and Louisiana 20.

In addition to polio, the health service reported favorable trends in several other communicable diseases for the first half of this year: Brucellosis, down a hundred cases; malaria, off by 65 cases; and epidemic typhus fever, down 10 cases.

However, there was considerable concern about diphtheria and typhoid fever.

Scott was arrested upon complaint of his wife, who charged he had assaulted her at the home of her parents in Carrier Mills.

SHAPE Warns Reds Have Six Million Under Arms

PARIS (AP) — Supreme Headquarters for Allied Powers in Europe warned today that the Communist European satellites still have six million men under arms despite Soviet claims of manpower reductions.

In a soberly worded estimate of the Red threat to Western Europe, SHAPE said in a published statement that the recent withdrawal of 30,000 Soviet troops from East Germany represented only a small proportion of those stationed there.

In addition, there has been no evidence that Soviet troop reductions of 640,000 men announced last Aug. 13 has been carried out.

"Hence, the Russian ground potential for an attack on the West would still be great," the statement said.

SHAPE said the satellite countries now have 80 divisions under arms—double their 1947 strength—and the Soviet block forces could have more than 400 line divisions within 30 days of the outbreak of a war.

The Rev. Ernest Ammon to Announce for WEBQ Baptist Hour During 11-Week Period

The Baptist Hour Association, known as the Baptist Hour from WEBQ Harrisburg, Illinois 7 to 8 A. M. daily for the past 25 years will have a new voice giving the announcements July 8. Mrs. J. A. Musgrave, who has been the announcer for the past years will leave for a 11-week trip to Europe and the Rev. Ernest Ammon will assume the duties connected with the work. He has been connected with the Baptist Hour as a sponsor and officer in the organization since 1937.

The Baptist broadcasts were commenced shortly after WEBQ came on the air in September of 1923. It did not take its present organized form and daily morning broadcasts until 1931. At first it was one-half hour in the afternoons and there was a time when two full hours were used with three preachers taking part and numbers of singers including a number of quartets. At first singers sometimes wore ear phones to determine volume.

The funeral announcements were with it from the first. At present about 60 funeral homes call their announcements in and between two and three hundred churches send announcements of their activities; also the denominational calendar is given. No charge has been made for any announcement. The Baptist Hour announcer receives a small salary and is allowed two weeks' vacation and two weeks' sick leave with pay each year. The Hour is controlled by the majority vote of the active sponsors in their quarterly meetings; there is also an executive committee that operates in the interval of the association's meetings.

The sponsoring churches pay about one third of the cost of operation; the contribution of the funeral homes is less than one tenth of operation cost and the major part is received from a responsive public. The Baptist Hour organization has trustees and is self-perpetuating. It accepts donations not great and small. It is a non-profit organization to spread the gospel.

It's a Great Time to Buy a Buick

(And at the Best Buy Yet!)

WHAT'S IN IT for you—if you step out and buy yourself a 1956 Buick right now?

Well, first of all — the time is right.

Right now, your present car is at its peak worth.

And, with the whole summer and almost half of '56 still ahead of you, you'll get more enjoyment out of a spirited new Buick this year — if you buy now.

Second, there's the matter of how much more automobile your money buys in the best Buick yet.

We tell you flatly that nowhere but in a '56 Buick can you get so much bounty for so little booty.

For example, take the beautiful big '56 Buick SPECIAL pictured here.

It's one big reason why Buick now ranks in the top three of America's best-selling cars. Yet, you'll find it priced right close to the well-known smaller cars.

That sure makes Buick a whale of a lot of car for the money. And look:

Nowhere but in a 1956 Buick can you get the absolute smoothness and the electrifying performance of Buick's terrific new Variable Pitch Dynaflo.*

Nowhere else can you get the obedient responsiveness of Buick's big and mighty new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine. Or Buick's matchless new handling ease and ever-level ride buoyancy—or Buick's bold new sweep-ahead styling, and solidity of structure, and stretch-out roominess.

Add it all up and the answer comes out the same, any way you figure it: Now's the time to buy your 1956 Buick.

Will you come in — before another sun sets—and get set with your best buy yet?

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.
